Memorandum for Dr. Leonard Carmichael, Dr. Wilcomb E. Washburn, Francis Coleman Rosenberger, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, and John Nolen.

It seems to me that Columbia Historical Society should ever seek ways to serve two audiences, the general public and scholars, and with a minimum expenditure of dollars. Enclosed is a proposal for two one-day institutes that might be held annually, at no money cost, to serve the two audiences. The proposal is made in broad strokes so as to establish perimeters for a committee within which it would have much freedom to operate.

If the proposal has value at the present time, your comments for its improvement will be appreciated greatly.

Sincerely,

Homer T. Rosenberger

Mr. McCarthy:

Here is a plan that I hope has some merit. Could be an exciting project. Want to ask Bill if he sees any complications about lunch on basement level.

I expect to be in D.C. on Monday, as Mrs. R. will be in Chambersburg

Hospital for a few days next week, begins Sunday noon. Best wishes, Home
